

ABSTRACT

In one embodiment, a core determinacy verification system and a method pertain to extracting data stored in core model structures, comparing the extracted data of one modeled processor core with extracted data of another modeled processor core, determining if any mismatching data will cause core divergence, and facilitating notice of an error if any mismatching data will cause core divergence.